July 8, 2022

- Preliminary Total Revenue for Q2 2022 was approximately $1.0 million
- Cash as of June 30, 2022 was approximately $16.6 million
- First commercial customer contract for Acuitas AMR Gene Panel signed in June 2022

ROCKVILLE, Md., July 08, 2022 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- OpGen, Inc. (Nasdaq: OPGN, "OpGen"), a precision medicine company harnessing the power of molecular diagnostics and bioinformatics to help combat infectious disease, announced today that total preliminary unaudited revenue for the second quarter of 2022 was approximately $1.0 million, up from $0.8 million in the second quarter of 2021. Cash as of June 30, 2022 was approximately $16.6 million.

The company announced accomplishment of the following key milestones and recent developments in the second quarter:

- OpGen signed its first commercial customer contract for the Acuitas AMR Gene Panel in June 2022
- OpGen commenced a new At The Market (ATM) sales facility for up to $ 10.7 million, pursuant to which the company may sell, from time to time, in an "at the market" offering shares of its common stock
- OpGen and Menarini expanded their distribution agreement to increase annual minimum revenue commitment by Menarini in the coming two years as well as a sale of the entire pool of installed Unyvero systems across nine European countries at residual fair market value from Curetis to Menarini
- OpGen announced interim analysis results from clinical trial for Unyvero Urinary Tract Infection Panel
- OpGen announced 1,000th patient sample enrolled in clinical trial for Unyvero Urinary Tract Infection Panel
- OpGen announced publication of results from major clinical study using Unyvero Hospitalized Pneumonia (HPN) Panel in The Lancet Respiratory Medicine
- OpGen announced publication of results of Unyvero Hospitalized Pneumonia Panel for detection of bacterial respiratory tract pathogens from serial specimens collected from hospitalized COVID-19 patients
- OpGen's subsidiary Curetis and Leader Life Sciences entered into a Unyvero distribution partnership for U.A.E. and Qatar
- OpGen subsidiary Ares Genetics extended its collaboration agreement with Sandoz to drive cutting-edge digital solutions in global fight against antimicrobial resistance (AMR)
- Ares Genetics also commercially launched new sequencing and analysis services globally
- Curetis announced the restructuring of its debt with the European Investment Bank

Mr. Schacht commented, "We are excited by the progress made in the second quarter, especially the fact that in June we signed the first commercial contract for our Acuitas AMR Gene Panel in the U.S. with a major hospital in the Northeast, the expansion of our distribution partnership with Menarini with significantly increased annual minimum revenue commitments by Menarini along with the agreement whereby Menarini has purchased the entire European pool of Unyvero systems across 9 countries from us at residual fair market value."

The preliminary Q2-2022 financial results are estimates prior to the completion of OpGen's financial closing procedures and review procedures by its external auditors and therefore may be subject to adjustment when the actual results are available.
