The Company was granted 180 calendar days, or until August 29, 2022, to regain compliance with the Minimum Bid Price Rule. Nasdaq Grants OpGen 180-Day Extension to Meet Minimum Bid Price Requirement

ROCKVILLE, Md., August 31, 2022 -- OpGen, Inc. (Nasdaq: OPGN, “OpGen”), a precision medicine company harnessing the power of molecular diagnostics and informatics to help combat infectious disease, announced today that it has received written notification from the Listing Qualification Department of The NASDAQ Stock Market (“Nasdaq”) granting OpGen’s request for a 180-day extension to regain compliance with Nasdaq’s minimum bid price requirement under Nasdaq Listing Rule 5550(a)(2) (the "Bid Price Rule").

OpGen now has until February 27, 2023 to regain compliance with the Bid Price Rule. Nasdaq’s extension notice has no immediate effect on the continued listing status of OpGen's common stock, which remains listed on The NASDAQ Capital Market.

If at any time until February 27, 2023, the bid price for OpGen's common stock closes at or above $1.00 per share for a minimum of ten consecutive trading days, OpGen will regain compliance with the Bid Price Rule. OpGen will continue to monitor the bid price for its common stock and consider various available options if OpGen’s common stock does not trade at a level that is likely to regain compliance with the Bid Price Rule. There can be no assurance that OpGen will regain compliance with the Bid Price Rule or maintain compliance with any of the other Nasdaq continued listing requirements during this extended compliance period.
